PECOS, Texas (July 23, 2021) – When it comes to general surgery, there is a new option in the region. Reeves County Hospital District (RCHD) announces the addition of Dr. Subhash Nagalla, a board-certified general surgeon, to the local medical community.

“The availability of comprehensive healthcare programs and services locally is essential,” explains Brenda McKinney, CEO of RCHD. “We are thrilled to have Dr. Nagalla in Pecos and provide his surgical expertise to help patients in our community.”

General surgeons have the expertise to diagnose a range of diseases, disorders, and conditions and utilize minimally invasive surgical techniques and endoscopies to treat patients. Additionally, a general surgeon can also perform diagnostic tests to guide the need for surgery.

Dr. Nagalla works with patients with various needs to perform procedures such as Gall Bladder, Hernia Repair, Appendectomy, Skin Lesions, Abscess/Cyst, Skin Tumors, Circumcision, Hemorrhoids, Hydrocele, Laparoscopic Procedures, Endoscopes, Colonoscopes, and much more.

A native of India, Dr. Nagalla received his medical education from Mysore University in Davangere, India. Coming state-side, he completed an internship and residency in surgery at New York Hospital Medical Center of Queens, where he later became the chief resident in surgery. Shortly after, he completed a clinical fellow program in bariatric surgery at Cleveland Clinic Florida in Weston, Fla.

Following various general and bariatric surgery positions in Pennsylvania and Illinois, Dr. Nagalla found his home in West Texas in 2013, working in Odessa, Texas.

Dr. Nagalla is certified by the American Board of Surgery and is a member of the American College of Surgeons and other industry associations.

“Reeves County is a growing community,” Dr. Nagalla says. “With the new hospital campus opening soon and a diverse and ever-changing community landscape, I know that I can make a difference in improving the lives of many residents in the region.”
